What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator

 - The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because the Fund will not be able to pay.

- The risk indicator assumes that you keep the product for 5 years.
- The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less than you originally invested.
- The risk indicator is derived based on a standard volatility measure of historical performance utilising a methodology defined by the PRIIPs regulation, so other factors such as illiquidity would not have been considered.
- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk indicator may change in the future and is not guaranteed.
- The lowest rating does not mean a risk-free investment.
- Always refer to the Prospectus for full details on the risks of the Fund.

Other Risks :

The exposure of the Fund to non-investment grade securities may involve greater risks of loss of income and capital.

The Fund may also invest in schemes or products which are or may be exposed to emerging markets. Emerging economies typically exhibit higher levels of investment risk. Such markets are not always well regulated or efficient and investments can be affected by reduced liquidity which may mean that it is not easy to buy or sell securities. There may also be difficulties in dealing and settlement systems, and custody problems could arise.

If the Fund invest predominantly in one specialist sector, country or geographic area, any decline in that sector or the economy of that country or area may significantly affect the price and value of the shares held by the Fund.

Be aware of currency risk. Investing in a Fund denominated in a currency other than that of the investor's own currency exposes the value of the investment to exchange rate fluctuations. You will receive payments in the Base Currency of the Fund, so the final return you will get depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

This Fund is not guaranteed and you may therefore not receive back your original capital. Furthermore any amount over this, and any additional return/ income, depends on future market performance and is uncertain. In certain circumstances you may be eligible to benefit from an investor compensation scheme (see the section "What happens if the Fund is unable to pay out"). The risk indicator shown above does not consider this protection. This product does not include any protection from the current and future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.
